

HISTORICAL RESOURCES BRANCH
US ARMY CENTER OF MILITARY HISTORY

HISTORICAL REFERENCE COLLECTION (HRC) # 1

The Historical Reference Collection (HRC) began as a set of subject reference files created at the start of the 1920's by the Historical Section of the Army War College. The collection continued to grow, especially after the Historical Section became part of the Office of the Chief of Military History (OCMH) which is now the US Army Center of Military History (CMH). Throughout its existence it has been under the custody of a single branch—now known as the Historical Resources Branch. An agreement with the National Archives and Records Administration froze the collection as of 1984 (with minor exceptions), and the branch established a second collection—HRC2. A portion of the original collection was transferred to the US Army Military History Institute at Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania, when that institution came into existence.

The collection as originally established followed the organizational principles of the War Department Decimal System of filing, which was the system used by the Army during the collection's first four decades. In order to maintain logical structure and consistency, OCMH and CMH continued to employ that records identification system until closing the collection in 1984. Note that the entire collection held the master serial number 228.01 Historical Inquiry Files under The Army Functional Filing System (TAFFS) which succeeded the War Department Decimal Filing system, and 870-5e Historical Inquiries under the current Modern Army Records Keeping System (MARKS).⁷

The Historical Resources Branch does not have the personnel or the ability to reproduce materials from the collection, but visitors are welcome on normal government business days between the hours of 8 A.M. and 4:30 P.M. A reproduction machine is available for use by researchers when it is not being used by the staff; a fee of $.15 per page is charged for copies which the researcher makes. Payment is by check or money order made payable to the Treasury of the United States.

The table below provides the War Department Decimal File number and the file title for each file in HRC. These items should be used in academic citations.
